Big school!

FORMER Schools Minister David Miliband officially opened the new Thomas Tallis School in Kidbrooke on Thursday, May 17.

The school is the second of five schools being rebuilt or modernised through the royal borough's Building Schools for the Future programme. Extra funding as part of the borough's Olympic and Paralympic legacy has also helped boost the school's sports facilities, which are open to local people and sports clubs throughout the week, all year round. Other facilities at the school are also available for adult learning and community use.

Mr Miliband, who signed off development of the school while Schools Minister, said: "I'm tremendously honoured to have the chance to see this fabulous new building. It's a large building but still has a welcoming quality that invites you in, and gives you a real sense of the commitment and the culture that the school has."

Cllr Chris Roberts, leader of the royal borough, said: "These superb new facilities show what can be achieved through a school working in partnership with the local authority to expand and modernise the facilities on offer for its pupils."

Help us get into the park

WITH all the rain we've had of late I've become increasingly concerned with the lack of access I have as an elderly person along Avery Hill Park. There's been a lot of water draining into the access road which makes it nigh impossible for me as I am wheelchair bound.

It seems to be the only park in the royal borough that doesn't have an accessible pathway. They have one in Southend Crescent, why not here in a place regularly used by schoolchildren, mothers and the elderly?

Mr Littlefield, Eltham

● We are sorry to hear about your difficulties accessing Avery Hill Park as we want to help every one enjoy our parks. Avery Hill Park has recently been significantly improved. This includes a multi-use games area, lighting, seating, an entertainment space, landscaping and accessible paving. We have also invested in a new café, (which is fully accessible with disabled toilets), an outdoor gym, improvements to the cricket facilities, and the provision of table tennis. Although many access routes in an out of the park are fully paved, a number including access on to the green chain walk are natural surfaces as they are in a semi natural environment.

We would be delighted to meet with anyone experiencing local difficulties and we will of course do whatever is reasonable to facilitate access for all. Anyone with concerns or suggestions about our parks can contact the parks department on 020 8921 6885 or email parks@greenwich.gov.uk

Good to see Manor smarter

WELL done Plumstead Manor on the new uniforms seen in the May 8 edition of GT. The scruffy turquoise and red sweaters have been an eyesore in Plumstead for years and always struck me as more appropriate for a primary school. My own young daughter may well attend PM in a few years so I'm pleased it's taking steps to looking smarter. It's well documented that pride in your school and uniform can improve grades and behaviour in general so it's good to see PM investing in this.

Jade Wilde, Plumstead

Star Letter

Fencing on Sidcup Road makes it look like the Berlin divide

I HAVE just visited my son in Sidcup Road, Eltham, where they have just put up fencing in the middle of the road. What an eyesore. It looks like Berlin with the east/west divide. The view from my son's living room is now this metal barrier making it look as though he lives in a prison compound. Is TfL going to compensate those homeowners for the devaluation of their property because of this dreadful method of stopping people from crossing the road? I appreciate that a young lad was killed while crossing the road from the boot sale at Flamingo Park, but this is beyond a joke. Surely it would have been better to have put a pedestrian crossing where the playing fields and golf range are situated - or just the barrier as there are no properties at this area. This is a case of planners not thinking the consequences through. How long before youngsters start to climb over this barrier and even more accidents happen as they fall into the road? Carole Owens, Sidcup Road ● A Transport for London

(TfL) spokesperson said: "The safety of all road users is one of TfL's absolute top priorities. Following a tragic fatality on the A20 Sidcup Road last year, we have recently installed new 1.7 metre high safety barriers to help reduce the risk of collisions at this location and to deter pedestrians from running across the 40mph dual carriageway. New signs have also been erected, directing pedestrians to cross at the nearest footbridge."

Thanks for the visit to two ships

WE would like to thank Greenwich Council for arranging free visits to The Cutty Sark and HMS Ocean. Both visits were very enjoyable,
Brenda & Len Faulkner, Eltham

ON THE MOVE: some of the new enviro-team get ready to hit the road

Wardens on wheels

New move for Olympic workers

NEWLY-employed Royal Greenwich wardens will be rolling around the borough on two wheels, making it easier for them to combat enviro-crime.

The wardens' posts are among 25 new jobs created for Royal Greenwich's Enviro-Crime Enforcement Team which will be protecting environmental standards on the borough's streets leading up to and during the Olympic Games.

Now, after completing cycle safety training, they'll be able to move around the borough quickly and safely - and in an environmentally-friendly manner.

As an Olympic host borough, Royal Greenwich will see an increase in visitors, which will place greater demands on the current warden service. To ensure high standards can be maintained, an additional 25 jobs were created.

Councillor Maureen O'Mara, cabinet member for community safety and enforcement, said: "There are many benefits to having extra wardens and to those wardens being able to cycle around the borough. They will be able to cover a larger area, much quicker, without adding to congestion or air pollution; there are also the personal health benefits for them.

"As well as tackling enviro-crime and acting as a visual deterrent, our new wardens will be able to welcome and assist the many extra visitors we are expecting." The wardens completed the Level 2 Bikeability training programme, providing them with the skills and confidence to ride on the borough's roads. The course covered areas as positioning on the road, clear signalling, awareness of other vehicles and how to fix a puncture.

Warden supervisor Claire Willis, was originally employed through GLLaB, the borough-backed agency which aims to give local people access to local jobs and training. She presented the team with their certificates, and refreshed her own skills at the same time.

She said: "This enhanced service will provide a visible rapid response to emerging problems allowing the wardens to take 'on the spot' enforcement action, such as handing out Fixed Penalty Notices, or, in the case of more complex problems, passing it on to specialist teams. The enhanced service will be available for longer hours and will have a more intensive coverage than previous staffing levels allowed for."

One of the newest wardens Sammy Afeeva, said: "It's been a very interesting course. I love being out and about in the job and cycling will make it much easier for us to get around and to cover a wider area."

LEGACY

Junior citizens prepare to support torchbearers

GRANDMOTHER June O'Regan is among the unsung heroes who have been given the honour of carrying the Olympic Torch through their hometown in July.

The 81-year-old from Canberra Road in Charlton, was nominated by her grandson Flynn.

She's one of 35 unsung heroes who have given up their free time to lead special interest groups, raise money for charity or pushed past their personal best to achieve a goal.

The Torchbearers have been nominated by friends, family or colleagues for their inspirational achievements or their service to the community.

They include people like June who said: "He nominated me because he says I'm great."

"I keep fit and active and play table tennis at The Arches leisure centre in East Greenwich, and I do voluntary work at one of the local lunch clubs for the Irish community. I go to the club on the Glyndon Estate in Burrage Road on Mondays and set up the tables for lunch - I've been doing it 10 years," she explained.

"I think I was selected because I help people in the community who are a bit worse off than me and because I've always lived in Greenwich."

"I believe I'll have to run about 300 metres with the Torch, and I think I can do it. I'm very excited about it. I didn't believe it when I first got the call from the organisers saying I had been chosen - I thought it was a hoax and I nearly put the phone down. But now I'm telling everyone that I'm really doing it."

Royal Greenwich is the first London borough to receive the Torch and youngsters are being invited line the Torch Relay route to help celebrate the achievements of the Torchbearers and to share in the excitement of the relay.

Youngsters have been learning about the 35 local people who each carry the Torch for 300 metres.

Schools and children's centres are getting information about the best view points along the route from Royal Greenwich. They're also getting details of entertainment taking place along

TORCHBEARER: June O'Regan will be swapping her table tennis bat for running shoes to carry the Torch

Greenwich town centre, East Greenwich and up through Eltham before ending up in Woolwich's General Gordon Square at 9.50am.

Councillor Chris Roberts, leader of the Royal Borough of Greenwich, said: "Royal Greenwich is proud to be the first London Borough to witness the fantastic spectacle of the Olympic Torch Relay. Residents across the borough will be given the rare opportunity to welcome the Olympic Flame and share in the excitement the relay will bring, as well as celebrate the achievements of the torchbearers."

● The full list of Torchbearers is listed at www.london2012.com/torch-relay/torchbearers/index.html. A map and full details of the Torch Relay route through Royal Greenwich is available at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/olympictorchrelayroute

the route before and after the Torch has passed through.

The Olympic Torch started its journey across the UK last Friday and is set to arrive in the capital on Saturday, July 21.

The Torch will start its London journey at about 7.20am in Royal Greenwich at the Prime Meridian line in Greenwich Park. Torchbearers will carry it through

Royal borough's youngest citizens get into the Olympic spirit

WONDER WALL: tots imitate their poses on the wall of sport at Sherington primary school nursery

Pintsize Olympians

by Grace Lipski

THE very youngest in the royal borough have been getting into the pace for the Games with the unveiling of a special sporting mural and a visit from Olympic VIPs.

Under fives at Sherington Primary school's nursery unveiled their Olympic mural with a party and a visit from John Baker, a diver who competed in the Munich games in 1972.

Former teacher at the Charlton school turned artist, Angela Finch got her creative brush out to make the special Olympic-themed mural with the help of the nursery children. She told GT: "I decided that we should have an Olympic theme as this was such an exciting, once-in-a-lifetime event for the children of Greenwich." She added: "The children showed us all the different actions the athletes would use. They did different poses and I drew around their body shape and used them for the basis of the mural." Four-year-old Rosie said: "I like the painting Angela did on the wall, and when I did my pose I was practising doing a handstand with a flick." Floyd, also four said: "I think the painting is great, my character is the best, it's blue and I was pretending to dive." Eltham-resident John said: "It's important to inspire the children of this generation and get them interested and excited about the games. It's fantastic that it's coming to London, having been in the Munich games myself years ago I can feel the same buzz and the atmosphere it creates." Later in the week Paralympic mascot Mandeville called in at other early years centres stopping off at Rachel Macmillan, Robert Owen, Pound Park and Abbey Wood nurseries. Mum Lisa and her two children Raysharne, three, and Dejah, four met Mandeville at the Robert Owen stop. She said: "They've been excited about it all week and now he's come they're loving it. This visit will help give the children an understanding of what the Olympics is all about. It's not every day that they'll see an Olympic mascot in the playground so it's definitely something memorable for them." Mum of two-year-old Iris, Amaryllis, added: "I wanted Iris to meet Mandeville as we will be going along to watch the 400-metre race. I think it's fantastic that the Olympics are coming to our local community in Greenwich, I'm a real supporter of it all."

Robert Owen deputy headteacher, Ruth Mercer said: "Mandeville's visit officially launches our celebration of the games. We've already been doing some activities in preparation like making an Olympic Torch and medals and later on we'll be celebrating the previous host countries with lessons about their culture and cooking lessons."

Mum Jessica was at the Pound Park visit with two-year old Tommy who is already familiar with the upcoming games: "We regularly drive past the archery site at Woolwich Common and Tommy knows what it's all about. It's good that people are getting excited about the Games with the visits from athletes and today's visit from the mascot."

Pound Park's headteacher, Sheena Gilby said: "This is a fantastic opportunity to inspire the children's interest in sport. I can't wait until it all starts and I'm looking forward to the Torch coming through this area soon."

Nurses wave the flag for hospice

FRIENDLY FACES:

by Dick Townsend-Smith

HOSPICE nurses were out in key locations across the royal borough telling people about the work they do.

Nurses from the Greenwich and Bexley Community Hospice were out at locations such as supermarkets and train stations last week. It was part of a week-long drive to raise awareness of the hospice, on Bostall Hill. The campaign was launched at a reception on Thursday (May 10) at the Old Royal Navy College in Greenwich when staff played host to around 50 guests.

They included Cllr Jim Gillman, the Mayor of Royal Greenwich, who chose the hospice as one of his two special charities for his year in office. He was joined by his wife, Cllr Janet Gillman along with Eltham MP Clive Efford and Gwen Jones, the royal borough's Pearly Queen.

Kate Heaps, hospice chief executive, spoke about the reasoning behind the campaign and the important work the hospice does in the royal borough. She said: "We know that lots of people living in Greenwich don't know enough about the hospice. Every year we care for over 2,500 local people and their families – ensuring they receive the best end of life care possible. We care for anyone with a terminal illness, aged 18 and over, and our nurses are available 24 hours a day. It is important to us that local people know we are here for them if they need us, now or in the future, and that all our care is completely free of charge."

Earlier in the month the Mayor called in at the hospice to talk to patients, staff and volunteers. Cllr Gillman, who supported the hospice through the Mayor's charity during his year of office, was accompanied by Cllr Peter Brooks, the deputy leader of Royal Greenwich. Cllr Brooks said: "We were grateful for the opportunity to meet the hospice staff and volunteers, and see first hand the quality care and support that is provided for patients and their families."

The right path for children like Izzy

New scheme to help caring families

HUNDREDS of experts are being sought to help shape the service Royal Greenwich offers to children with special educational needs (SEN) and disabilities... the children's families themselves.

Such a plan won't cost the borough anything and families are the people best placed to come up with ideas to improve services.

Royal Greenwich has been chosen by the government to develop new approaches to helping children with SEN and disabilities.

Through working in close partnership with the NHS, the voluntary sector, and Greenwich Parent Voice, the Royal Borough's Pathfinder project is looking to establish how best to support children with special needs and their families. Well-attended information events have been held to promote parent involvement in the Pathfinder project. Parents heard that volunteer families were needed to help test different ways of providing services for children with SEN and disabilities.

Louis Wilbourne, whose two-year-old daughter Izzy has complex needs with learning and mobility, attended one of the information events. He told GT: "I did not know anything about the Pathfinder before I went to the event. It was helpful to get an idea of what it could mean for Izzy and for ourselves.

"As a family trying to get the best possible assistance for Izzy, we encounter so many small stumbling blocks every day. They may not seem much to other people but they mean so much to us. We are happy to join in the Pathfinder work which will hopefully help make things easier for Izzy and for other disabled children."

Newly referred families of young children may be asked to follow the new pathway.

A meeting has been arranged for lunchtime in Eltham on Tuesday, May 29, for parents and carers who want to meet the project team and to discuss the Pathfinder.

Cllr Jackie Smith, cabinet member for children and young people, said: "It's great that local families are eager to get involved in shaping the future of these services."

"I know that being a parent can involve a lot of hard work - particularly when

£10m confirmed for new university tech college

FOURTEEN to 19-year-olds with their minds on jobs will be the targets after the Department for Education confirmed £10million funding for a new University Technical College (UTC) in the royal borough.

University technical colleges are a new concept in education, offering 14-19-year-olds a full time, technically-orientated course sponsored by a university and with clear routes into higher education and further learning in work.

Cllr Jackie Smith, cabinet member for children's services, told GT: "The Royal Borough of Greenwich is committed to providing a wide range of educational opportunities for young people, including vocational courses that prepare them for the world of work."

"The University Technical College will provide enhanced choices for children and young adults between the ages of 14 and 19, focusing on vocational learning and real work experience. By specialising in construction and engineering, Greenwich UTC will also provide the construction and engineering industry with a workforce that is prepared for the world of work."

UTC students start at the age of 14, integrating academic requirements with technical and practical elements. Under the same roof they study technical subjects alongside the basic GCSE subjects of English, mathematics, science and IT.

They also take part in sport and are trained in financial practices and learn how to set up a business.

The Greenwich UTC is sponsored by the Royal Borough of Greenwich, Lewisham College and the University of Greenwich. It will provide places for 300 14-16-year-olds and 300 16-19-year-olds and will serve Greenwich and neighbouring areas.

It already has strong support from industry, with Transport for London and Wates sponsoring the initiative with other sponsors expected to join them. A planning application for the college has just gone in. Subject to that being approved, work is expected to begin on site at the former Westminster Industrial Estate, Ferranti Close, Charlton, later this year. It's hoped the college will open for students in September, 2013.

Professor Tom Barnes, deputy vice-chancellor (Research and Enterprise), at the University of Greenwich, said: "We are delighted to be part of this exciting initiative for the Royal Borough of Greenwich, working with such committed co-sponsors. With them we look forward to playing a leading role in creating a brand new college which will give its students the best possible prospects for employment and further study."

Safety first!

Pupils win prizes

competition

POSTER PUPILS: (clockwise from top) AJ, Macie, Zoe, Sadie and Finley

by Grace Lipski

CHILDREN from the James Wolfe primary school in Greenwich put safety first when they created posters to be displayed in a nearby building development.

Contractors on Old Pearson Street - just across the road from the Randall Place school, set the pupils a competition to design bright artworks to warn others of the dangers of building sites.

The top three from each age range won a WHSmith voucher. Finley Newmark, aged 10 got first place, Macie Scotter, nine took second, and AJ Martin, 10 was third. In the lower age range Zoe Waldron, seven, bagged the top prize, with Sadie Smith, seven, in second, and third was James Gill, also seven.

Ten-year-old Finley said: "I decided to use a digger in my poster. I used beware signs and warning signs to show the actions of the work site."

"I hope my poster makes people aware of what they're doing and what protection they can wear on a building site and to have awareness."

Nine-year-old Macie added: "I wanted to use a simple sign with bold colours to make people aware and to get the message across. I've learned to understand the dangers sites can have."

AJ, 10, said: "I live near the site and I want people like myself who are around it to keep safe so wanted my poster to give a warning to them."

The Greenwich (Free Parking Places) (No. 5) (Amendment No. 21) Order 2012

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the Royal Borough of Greenwich on 18th May 2012 made the above-mentioned Order under sections 6 and 124 of and Part IV of Schedule 9 to the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, as amended. The Order will come into operation on 23rd May 2012 and will be revoked and cease to have effect from 1st November 2012.
2. The general effect of the Order will be to reposition the existing free parking place on the south-west side of Cemetery Lane so that cars will be required to park with two wheels on the footway between 23rd May and 31st October 2012 as part of traffic management measures in preparation for the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.
3. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Strategic Transportation on 020 8921 5500.

It's terrific Th

THOMAS Tallis school hosted its official opening last week, and saw its 1,950 students get a chance to show off the brand new facilities.

The new buildings provide a modern learning environment supporting the school's pledge that 'every student matters'. Facilities on offer support the school's status as a specialist arts college, a 'Leading Edge School', and a 'School of Creativity'. These include an on-site broadcast studio and an Apple network said to be the largest in any school in the country.

The school is fully networked so that computer-aided learning on PCs and laptop computers, can take place in any part of the site. The main teaching rooms are housed in three blocks, while the sports facilities and dining room, performing arts spaces, a library and sixth form centre, administration and other classrooms make up the fourth block.

Investment by the royal borough as part of its Olympic legacy funding has helped provide Tallis with a 1000sq-metre dojo for judo which can also be used for wrestling and taekwondo; a sports hall with space for six badminton courts; capacity to stage regional level basketball competitions; and a 1000sq-metre artistic gymnastics gymnasium. These facilities are already being used by local residents and sports clubs.

The local community will also be able to use the school's facilities for specialist performing, visual and media arts facilities and the music recording and TV broadcast studios.

The school provides strong support for children with special education needs. All facilities are fully accessible to all students. Byron Parker, executive headteacher, said: "These are excellent modern facilities which have been welcomed by pupils, staff and parents. This is a very exciting time for Tallis, coming as it does on top of our best-ever GCSE results last summer."

"The school community has been very closely involved in helping to design the new buildings and as a result we have a building for the 21st century that enables the school to continue to do what it does well, while expanding and improving the facilities for pupils of all abilities and talents."

Work is now underway to landscape the site of the old school buildings, much of which has been converted into open space and playing fields. This site, together with an adjacent plot of land, will be used for new sports pitches, including two full size football pitches, a multi-use floodlit games area, athletics facilities and a hard court play area. There will also be additional outdoor learning spaces and a market garden.

THOMAS Tallis operates a 'student ambassadors' scheme, the modern equivalent of school prefects, to help, support and advise pupils throughout the school.

The aim is to appoint a total of 70 ambassadors, all aged between 13 and 17. GT asked three of them, Esther Bukoye, Chloe Jackson and Perry Hills, all 15, what they thought of their new school:

ESTHER: "The best thing about being here is that there are much better facilities than the old school, particularly in music, sport and drama. The equipment here is far better for everything, and there is so much more space to do things." Esther has career ambitions to be a barrister, saying: "I like talking, so I think I would be good at it."

PERRY: "The biggest difference is that the new school is a lot lighter and has a more contemporary feel. The different blocks and subject areas are colour-coded, such as red for English and Yellow for maths. The old school looked a lot more dull." Perry intends to stay on for the 6th form, then go on to university to study maths and contemporary dance.

CHLOE, who wants to work with disabled children as a career, said: "I love the music facilities. I took music as an option and I sing. A lot of other people play instruments like guitars and saxophones and apart from the main music room we have enough small rooms where people can practise, and a recording studio where people can book their own time slots. This is important because music is the way some people express themselves."

GDIF taster

AN ACTION-PACKED programme of free outdoor entertainment was announced by organisers of the Greenwich and Dockland International Festival last week.

Details of the ten-day spectacle of theatre, dance and music were revealed at the Discover Greenwich Centre at the Old Royal Naval College.

The event, part of the Greenwich Festivals, runs from June 21-30 and features a range of UK and international street artists who are set to bring extraordinary sights and sounds to both sides of the river in Greenwich and Docklands.

Two of the major events - Crow and Prometheus Awakes - are supported by the Royal Borough of Greenwich and, as part of the London 2012 Festival, are helping to build on the excitement and spirit of the Olympics.

Organisers are encouraging audience participation and are appealing for people to join the team of festival volunteers at volunteers@festival.org

A festival spokesperson said: "People can expect to experience everything from awesome night-time spectacles to stunning theatre productions and captivating dance performances."

Asset to associate

IT'S not just what you know or who you know - but where you go.

Young artistic directors Frankie Wakefield and Katie Pesskin went to the Edinburgh Festival last summer, met Greenwich Theatre's James Haddrell, and are now under the wing of Greenwich's vibrant Associate Artist programme.

Bristol graduate Frankie and undergraduate Katie have set up their own company, As Told By, and have already shaken some movers with 'The Country' by Martin Crimp and 'Macbeth' set during World War Two, both in Bristol.

"We met James Haddrell when we were doing a show called Waiting for Alice at the Pleasance Courtyard in Edinburgh," said Katie.

"I had a chat with him when we got back and he said he'd be interested in helping the company. It's fantastic to have the support of a really well-known London theatre and it's great for a young company to have that kind of backing.

"It's the opposite of just being pushed to the side for being small. Now we're going to bring one of our two Edinburgh shows to Greenwich."

schools – we didn't know what to expect at all, but the standard has been so high. "The teachers have been brilliant, and when you go in there and you see how much they've worked from one week to the next, it's amazing."

The piece was commissioned by the royal borough and rehearsals have been going on since March. NEGUS and Woolwich Poly students auditioned for solo parts at the Woolwich public hall.

Both age groups will be on stage at the same time, with the older ones leading, and the youngsters providing the backing for the rapid-fire 14 songs in the show which is under half an hour long. "It's a choral cantata, so they're doing all the songs – Any Dream Will Do, Close Every Door to Me, and Jacob and Son which is the first song of the cantata," Sean said.

"Joseph was originally written as a 10-minute piece, and then it was extended to 20 minutes, and that's the version we're doing."

Other local schools are invited to the event in General Gordon Square, which begins at 12 noon next Friday.

Deputy Mayor of Greenwich, Cllr Angela Cornforth will give a speech at 12.40pm before performances by the pupils, and Sean will close the event at 2.30pm with a final song.

"I'm really excited about the whole thing," he said. "And up to now I've just been a teacher to them, but this'll be a chance for them to hear me sing!"

The event is held by the big screen, and will be filmed for the BBC to beam across its other live sites in England and Northern Ireland on June 4.

The event will see the return of the incredible 10-piece Afrobeat band Kalakuta led by Fela Kuti's guitarist Emeka Elendu, a vibrant brass section and hypnotic rhythms.

The evening will also be graced with the new diva from Kenya, Apelles Ogaga. Never mind 'The Voice UK', Apelles has the looks, voice and personality to knock you sideways.

To add to the theme of 'Africa and the Diaspora', Aubrei Woki from Botswana will perform songs from his latest album on an evening held together by brilliant Nigerian writer and poet Sandhya Kaffo.

There will also be an exhibition of African art while you drink some Ghanaian and Nigerian beer from Amma's Fare, who will be providing the bar.

Tickets are £6 on the door. For more information call GFMA on 020 8858 9497

GLAMOROUS ENTRANCE: Apelles Ogaga takes the mic

Royal Greenwich Council's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 288

How the lettings policy works

Housing applicants are placed within 'Bands' according to the the Royal Borough of Greenwich's policy for letting homes. Your band information is on the letter that the Council sent you when you registered, or when your circumstances changed. Property adverts say which band can apply and any other criteria. When all the bids are received, the property is then offered to: For properties advertised for band A and band B - the applicant who has had this priority status for the longest time. For properties advertised for band C applicants - the applicant who has been registered on the Council's list for the longest time.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at

2 Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

3 Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Royal Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free in either your neighbourhood housing office, library or UK Online centre.

4 Apply in one of two ways

- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

The next edition of GreenwichHomes will be available on Wednesday 30 May 2012 at midday and will include any Housing Association properties when available. Closing date for all applications for this issue is midnight on Sunday 27 May 2012.*

Small is beautiful the Under Occupation scheme

If you are living in a Council property that is too big for you, we can help you to move to somewhere smaller.

The Council will pay your removal costs, and £350 for each bedroom gained.

To join the scheme you must be willing to move to a home with two bedrooms less than you have now:

- 3 bedroom to a 1 bedroom home
- 3 bedroom parlour/4 bedroom to a 1 or 2 bedroom home
- 5 bedroom to a 3 bedroom (or smaller) home

Seaside and Country Scheme

This scheme offers one and two bedroom flats and bungalows on the Coast and in the countryside, in the South East and West of England.

In order to be considered you must be:

- A Council or Housing Association tenant
- At least 60 years old (if someone is moving with you they must be over 55 years old).

Your removal costs will be met if you are a Council tenant and you do move to a Seaside and Country home. To register, or find out more about the scheme, contact the Access and Allocation section on Tel: 020 8921 2941

If you are a Housing Association tenant you need to contact your landlord to register.
Further information is available from the scheme management organisation at

GreenwichHomes

Royal Greenwich Council's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Important Notice

Changes to the rents and tenancies of some advertised housing association properties.

Affordable Housing

Currently the rent level for the properties you see advertised in Greenwich Homes is significantly lower than full market rents in private sector housing.

From now you will now be seeing some housing association properties advertised for higher rents, up to eighty percent of the market rent. These rents will also include the service charge that you will need to pay for the property. We will use the phrase Affordable Housing on the adverts to help you identify these properties.

Please note the Council will continue to advertise all the homes it owns at the standard rent level.

You can bid for properties advertised as Affordable Housing in exactly the same way as for other advertised properties. If you are successful the housing association may want to check you have enough income to pay the higher rent, whether you are working or on benefits. If you are currently a housing association tenant the rent you pay on your present home will not be affected by this change.

Fixed term tenancies

You will also notice that the tenancies for Affordable Housing and some other housing association properties may now be for a shorter period than the present lifetime tenancies offered by housing associations. The phrase Fixed term tenancy will be used in the adverts to identify these properties. The tenancy details will be explained to you if you are successful when you view the property.

Please think about these changes when bidding for an Affordable housing property and make sure you can afford the home that you choose.

Pitching it up in Charlton Park

"We're a voluntary group so we'll have to look at how things are going a year from now," he said, "but it should be fine if it's used as often as we think it will."

The cricket development group coaches in Greenwich schools, runs district teams at Under 10, 12 and 14 level as well as cricket festivals and school holiday courses.

Warren Lee, from Eaglesfield, and now Ivan Thomas, from The John Roan, have gone on to play for Kent CCC.

"We've proved that you can play cricket from any background as long as you get the right support."

A DREAM came true for young fencer Jonathan "JJ" Webb when he won the gold medal for England at the Olympic venue just weeks before the Games themselves.

JJ, from New Eltham, became the Sainsbury's UK School Games champion as no fewer than 1,600 elite under 18 athletes from England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales competed in the three-day event.

"To take the individual gold at the Olympic venue was amazing and then for us all to take the team gold for England just topped the day," said JJ, who is supported by Starting Blocks, the borough-backed charitable trust which supports aspiring athletes.

"It's amazing to think that the Olympic fencing athletes I aspire to be like will be competing at the same venue."

He had travelled back from Sheffield after the relative disappointment of winning bronze at the British Youth Championships on May 6, but soon won through the poules to defeat William James from Wales in the last 16.

In the last eight JJ came back from 12-9 down to win 15-9 against Scotland's Robert Veitch, then in the semis he came up against clubmate and England's under 18 British Youth champion Jacob Gander-Compton.

JJ took the bout 15-11 to meet England's Will Deary in the final. Will had put JJ out in the BYCs and it was always going to be tough. Deary fought back 8-4 down but could not close the gap and JJ won 15-10 to take the gold.

Later in the day JJ and the others, plus Mathew Jones, won the team gold for England.

"Knowing I have taken a gold medal at the 2012 Olympic venue makes me feel very proud," said JJ, "and it will inspire me to drive on. It's been a very tough three days and it was very tiring."

"I've now got a few months off from competing and need a minor operation on my foot, so I will have a good break and then start preparing for next season."

His father, Steve, told GT: "JJ has received great support from Greenwich Starting Blocks which has helped him to make huge strides in the fencing world."

Pitch it up

A new wicket for local clubs at Charlton Park

A NICE STRAIGHT: Mayor Jim Gillman welcomes the new cricket pitch at Charlton Park with local players and officials

by Peter Cordwell

RAIN inevitably stopped play but nothing could bowl out the enthusiasm for the latest cricket table to be laid in the royal borough.

Players of all ages turned up at Charlton Park on Wednesday, May 9, for the inaugural 20 overs match between the Mayor's Royal Greenwich team and the Greenwich District XI.

The heavens put a dampner on the occasion but it wasn't hard to imagine idyllic summer weekends with picnickers enjoying the cricket and taking advantage of the newly-refurbished café, renamed The Old Cottage, just inside the park gates in Charlton Road.

The new pitch, which will be used midweek as well as on Saturdays and Sundays.

Funding has come from the Royal Borough of Greenwich in partnership with the Olympic Delivery Authority, Samuel Montague Youth Centre and the Greenwich Cricket Development Group.

Its chairman, Chris Swadkin, told GT: "We're running the facility for the borough and will be employing proper grounds men, which is the most important aspect of it all."

"We've also been provided with the funding for a roller, which means we can ensure that the table is kept to the required standard for local clubs." The idea behind the new ground started three years ago with a plan for a sporting legacy in Greenwich, including cricket Chris explained.

"We realised that you need highly professional people involved to prepare and maintain the wicket and communicate with the local cricket world," he said.

"We'll be working closely with the community making sure that the ground is used enough to make it sustainable. Just imagine a sunny day here for cricket, it'll be wonderful."

Several community groups and organisations have already hired the pitch for midweek games and Chris is confident the facilities will pay for themselves.
